Administrator (ăd-mĭn-ĭ-strā-ter) n.

1. A business or government executive. 2. One appointed to administer an estate. 3. One given the rights A) to remove privileges, B) to call parents and C) to not accept excuses on the bases of better judgement. 4. One who must deal with hysterical students, irate parents, distraught teachers and other administrators. 5. One who is both critic and object of criticism. 6. One without whom a school could not function.

Aaron Fink has been Newton's Superintendent of Schools for the past ten years. A graduate of Rutgers and Harvard Universities, he spent sixteen years as a high school principal in Massachusetts and in New York before becoming superintendent in Newton. In addition to his position in Newton's school system, Mr. Fink has been a director of Education Collaborative for Greater Boston (EdCO) since 1969.

Mr. Fink's daily routine as superintendent is varied. He spends much of his time visiting schools and consulting with principals and school coordinators about school programs. His evenings are frequently spent with the School Committee, parent groups and public officials discussing issues and programs which effect the school system. "It is the only job I've ever had in which you get your forty hours in by Wednesday morning," said Mr. Fink.

Recently Mr. Fink's major efforts have been directed toward trying to maintain the quality of the school system which is currently under the stress of declining enrollment and tighter budgets. Mr. Fink is proud of the fact that, in spite of the stress, opportunities, particularly for students who have difficulties in school, have expanded greatly.

Another of Mr. Fink's interests has been implementing more options for students who wish to learn outside of the confines of both the school building and the school day. Concerning such programs, Mr. Fink observed that, "The class of 1979 is very fortunate to have worked with such a talented staff."

"I see the job of the principal as a guiding job, not a controlling one," said principal Richard Mechem.

Mr. Mechem was born in Evanston, Illinois. He attended Harvard College and graduated with honors. He then went on to get a Master's Degree from Harvard Graduate School of Education. Before becoming principal of Newton North High School in 1960, Mr. Mechem was principal of Walnut Hills High School in Ohio.

Newton North is a large school, but Mr. Mechem thinks of Newton North's size as an asset rather than a handicap.

"I believe in what I call the critical mass theory, which is that in order to accomplish anything you must have a critical mass, a large enough number of interested individuals. The size of Newton North allows it to reach this critical mass in many programs which are not feasible in other schools."

Mr. Mechem feels that a principal should guide and mediate, not direct.

"The school's diversity and depth allow it to run itself, so I can stand off to one side, making sure that no group goes in the wrong direction and that there are no clashing interests."

About Newton North's graduating class of 1979, Mr. Mechem said, "I see a positive increase in interest and commitment to the classroom, to athletics, to the arts, and to all extracurricular activities."

Atwood P. Dunham has been at Newton North for fifteen years, the first six as a teacher and the last nine as assistant to the Principal Richard Mechem. Mr. Dunham attended Phillips Andover Academy and Wesleyan and Boston Universities. Mr. Dunham's responsibilities around Newton North include grade processing, student registration and scheduling and the many other details which are involved in running a school the size of Newton North. Mr. Dunham is responsible for implementing Arena Scheduling, a major change in the scheduling procedure because it involves the students in what used to be a computer process.

Atwood P. Dunham

Ken Temkin is administrative assistant for both Newton North and the Newton School Department. He has worked for the school department since 1975. In 1976 Mr. Temkin's job expanded when he took over the administrative responsibilities at Newton North. Mr. Temkin attended Boston and George Washington Universities. As administrative assistant, Mr. Temkin is in charge of such things as supply and equipment budgets and purchases, supply inventories and equipment maintenance and insurance for both Newton North and the Newton School Department. At Newton North Mr. Temkin also oversees the bursar's office and is business advisor to The Newtonite.

Ken Temkin

Dan Malia is in charge of both Newton's city wide and Newton North's Technical-Vocational Programs. He attended Gorham State College, the University of Connecticut, Harvard and Boston Universities. Mr. Malia, a former Riley Housemaster, was chosen for the position by Superintendent Aaron Fink when Mr. Fink was starting plans which incorporated the Technical-Vocational Department within the high school, rather than within its own separate building. Mr. Malia's duties as Technical-Vocational Director also involve him with the Work Study, Home Economics and Business Programs throughout the Newton School System.

VOCALISTS

The vocal division of the music department consisted of Concert Choir, The Family Singers and Sisters. The largest of the three groups, Concert Choir, was under the direction of Raymond Smith and performed from a repertoire which included popular and classical pieces. Sisters, a select group of twenty girls, performed popular pieces which were arranged by their conductor, Saul Stern. The Family Singers, a select group of thirty-five students, under the direction of Mr. Smith and student-teacher Joni Laine, sang a mixture of classical and contemporary pieces.

The three groups combined their talents to present "A Night in Vienna," which included not only singing, but dancing as well.

In early spring, The Family Singers presented the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Trial by Jury." Group members not only sang but took part in production aspects of the presentation as well. Jobs undertaken by members included direction, choreography, lighting, costume design and publicity.

Perhaps the most exciting part of the year was the exchange program with Allen High in Allentown, Pennsylvania. In April, the Newton North chorus members spent four days in Allentown, staying in the homes of Allen High chorus members and performing a joint concert with them. Later in the year, the exchange was completed when the Allen High School chorus members came to Newton North.

The Newton North vocalists had another busy and productive year. They presented entertaining and varied programs which were enjoyed by everyone.

INSTRUMENTALISTS

This year Newton North's instrumental groups were the Orchestra, Concert Band, Wind Ensemble and Jazz Ensemble. The Wind Ensemble, which included about fifty members, was an advanced group which played specialized music, while the thirty-five member Concert Band performed a more popular repertoire.

For the Wind Ensemble and Concert Band, the year was one of transition due to the departure of Gary Good, who was replaced by John Corley of M.I.T. The Concert Band and Wind Ensemble started the year well, under the direction of Mr. Good, and continued to give concerts throughout the year. The Jazz Ensemble, also formerly directed by Mr. Good, continued to work well under the enthusiastic leadership of Greg Livingston.

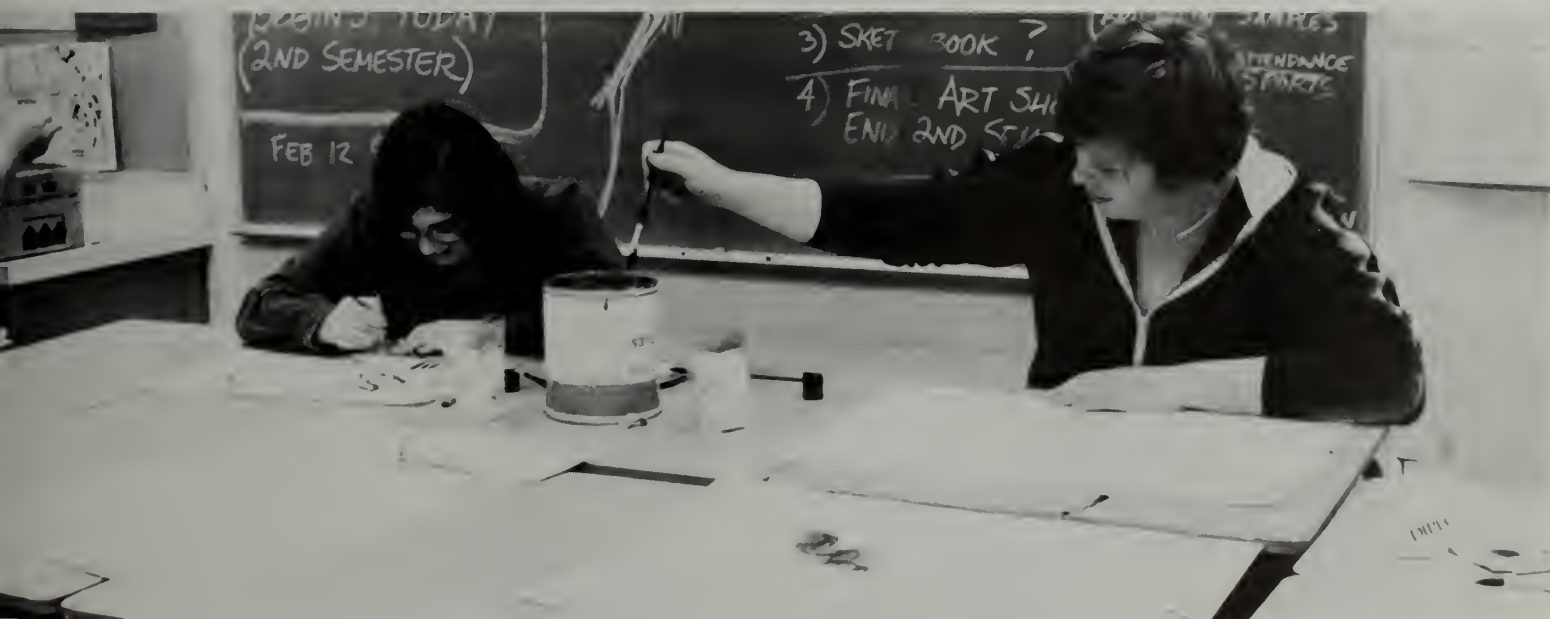

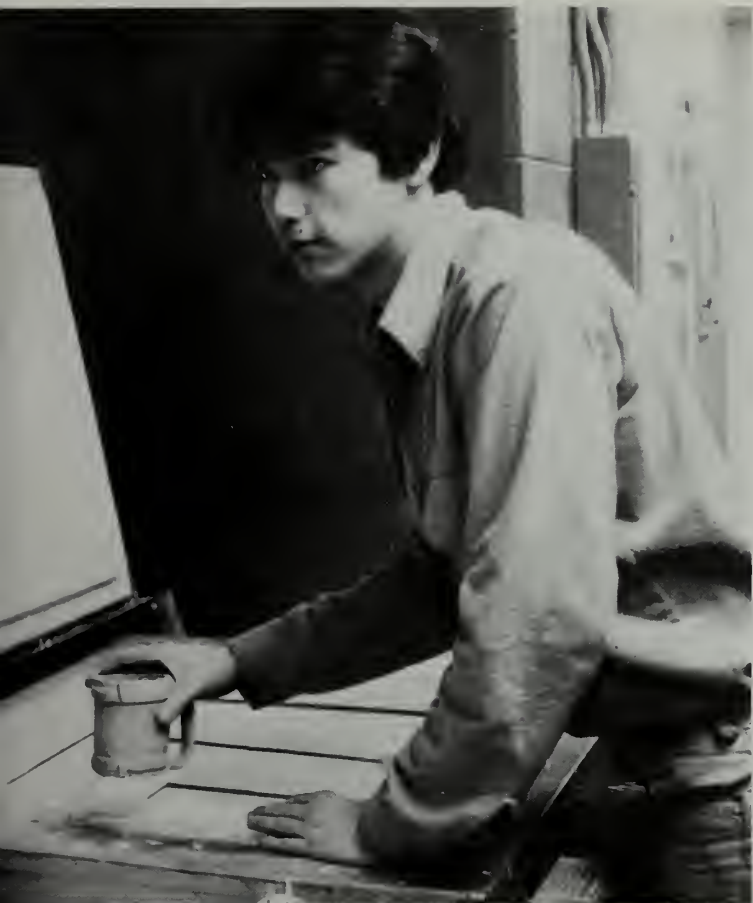

The Orchestra, consisting of forty members, enjoyed one of its finest years ever, in terms of diversity of repertoire and of member's attitudes. The year began with Harvest Fest in October and the Strauss Ball in November. Other events included a solo night featuring six instrumental soloists, the performances of a Bach Cantata and "Trial By Jury" with the Family Singers, Spring Fest and many in-school concerts.

Newton North continued to offer a diversified and high-level program for interested instrumentalists. Due to continued hard work and dedication, the instrumental groups had another successful year.

"Oh, I don't know, I don't think I'll put anything in the yearbook under my senior picture."

"What? No, you should. Put a quote or something."

"Like what?"

"Oh, I don't know, something profound and creative."

"I can't think of anything like . . ."

"Alright, let's start with movies . . ."

"I know, how about 'May the Force be With You'?"

"No, that's too . . . spacey. Try something more, I don't know, more romantic."

"I've got it! How about 'It takes someone very special to make you forget someone very special'?"

"No, I think Sally said she was going to use that one. Try something which expresses how you are feeling now."

" 'Frankly my dear I don't give a damn'?"

"Be serious. If you don't want my help just say the word . . ."

"I've got it, how about 'Grease is the word'?"

"Let's skip the movies. How about T.V.? Can you think of anything quote-worthy?"

" 'As sands through the hour glass, so are the days of our lives'?"

"But you don't want anyone to know that you actually watch that show?"

"But it's my favorite show, next to Mork and Mindy."

"But the whole school doesn't have to know it. Soaps are an intellectual zero. They are for fools."

"Look who's talking? Who stayed home from school to watch General Hospital because she was afraid that Jeff Webber would catch Lassa Fever during the recent epidemic which swept Port Charles?"

"I was interested only in the social and medical implications of such a situation."

"Oh, I'm sure."

"Let's not give up yet. Hey, do you have a copy of Bartlett's Familiar Quotations?"

"I think so."

"Get it, quick. I'm sure we can find something profound in there."

"Here it is, but I'm telling you, I'm not the profound type."

"Nonsense, anyone can be profound. It's easy. Here we go, Shakespeare. We are sure to get something profound from the Bard. Here's a deep one, listen, 'What fates impose, that men must needs abide . . . ' "

"I like this one better, 'Men of few words are better men. ' "

"Very funny."

"Hey, I like this one. Robert Emmet Sherwood described me just perfectly. 'I belong to a vanishing race. I'm one of the intellectuals. ' "

"Yes, an intellectual who divides her time between watching Mork and Mindy and going to see Animal House eight times."

"Nine."

"You are right, profound you certainly are not."

"Well, it's no crime you know."

"Music. We still haven't tried the resources of your record collection. Here we go. I'll name names and you try to think of quotes. Uh . . . The Bee Gees."

" 'Oh you can tell by the way I use my walk . . . ' "

"No good. Hey what's that song by David Bowie?"

"Ch-ch-ch-Changes?"

"Are you cold?"

"Huh?"

"Oh, this is so difficult. I'm going to freak out."

"That's it. Freak Out."

"Be serious. People remember you by these quotes."

"Can't I just say 'Love and thanks to everyone'?"

"Well if you want to, but your quote will sure look silly next to my quote: 'Like a diligent flounder I shall fly south for the winter and mingle among the jelly beans on a feather bed of clouds.' "

"But what does that mean?"

"I don't know . . ."

OEDIPUS REX

In early October, Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex" transported the Little Theatre's audience to 5th century B.C.

The play was directed by Tom DePeter who also designed the set and costumes. The play was produced by Philip Wolfe and Joseph Hershenson.

The cast was headed by Philip Wolfe who gave a strong performance in the title role. The supporting roles of Creon (Scott Reilly), Jocasta (Arlene Phalon), the Choragos (Roxanne Gorbach), Teiresias (Joel Bard) and the Shepherd (Billy Ryan) were performed with equal skill.

Much of the production's success was due to the fourteen member Chorus which "mirrored" the emotions of the principal characters.

An important aspect of the production was the use of authentic staging. The set design was copied from that of the original production.

The production's authenticity along with its fine performances made "Oedipus Rex" an exciting experience for all.

CANDIDE

"All is for the best in this best of all possible worlds" is what we learned from this year's all-school musical, "Candide." The story is by Voltaire. Music and lyrics are by Leonard Bernstein and Richard Wilbur.

Raymond Smith directed the perfectly cast production. He also designed the sets, which included a huge revolving stage and a "living" stained glass window.

John D'Agnese choreographed the play. The most impressive dance number took place on "The Rocky Shore." Costumed in leotards and loincloths, the pygmy chorus did a wild dance that built in intensity to the accompaniment of a rhythmically pounded drum.

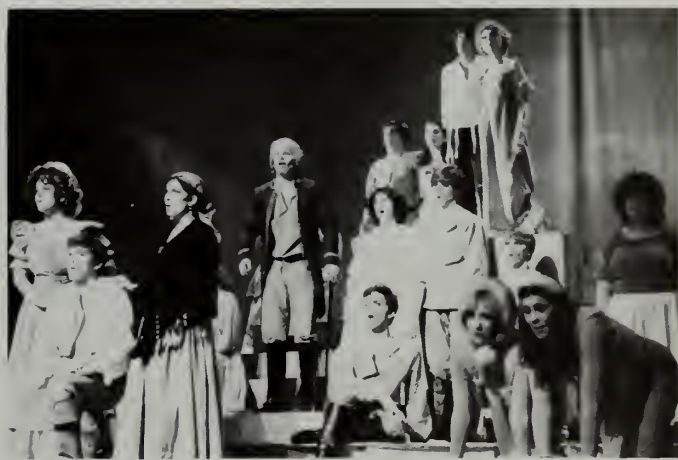

The orchestra, conducted by Eric Benjamin added a new twist this year. Members played on stage behind a screen and were dressed in knickers to simulate a peasant population.

Lisa Ehrman produced the show, aided by Joseph Ryan who was the faculty stage manager.

The cast included Glen St. Coeur as the show's hero, Candide, Cathy Calk as Cunegonde, Arlene Phalon as Paquette, Meg Donabedian as the Old Lady, and Billy Ryan as Maximillian. Paul Bronk played a dual role, appearing as both Candide's master, Dr. Pangloss, and the narrator of the story, Voltaire.

The whole cast radiated energy and excitement in their roles. Their long, hard hours of work made "Candide" a memorable and enjoyable event.

GLASS MENAGERIE

Early in February, Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" was presented, treating Newton North audiences to a new theatre experience. What made "The Glass Menagerie" different from previous plays produced at Newton North, was that the cast consisted of only four characters. The small cast and the intimate atmosphere of the Little Theatre drew the audience into the lives of the four characters; Amanda Wingfield (Deborah Mayman), her children, Tom (Paul Bronk) and Laura (Jennifer Rako), and the Gentleman Caller (Carl Buxbaum).

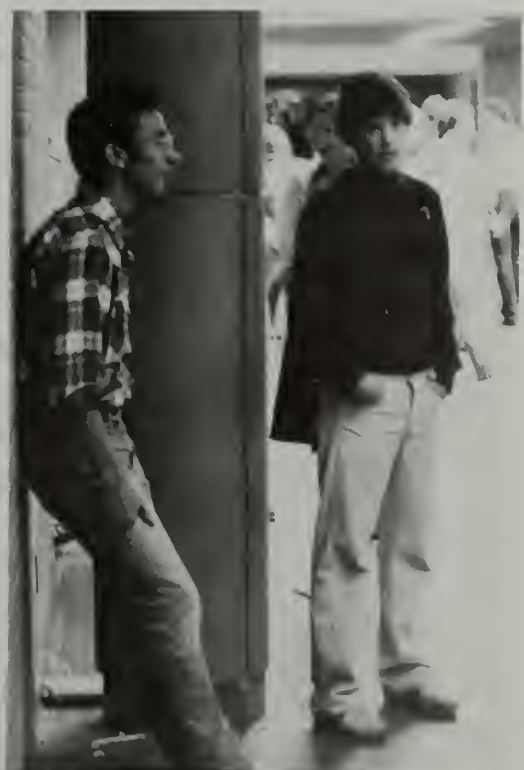

The strong performances were directed by Sheila Tierney. The set was designed by John D'Agnes. Both the set and costumes captured the period in which the play was set perfectly. The lighting, which played an important part in setting the mood of the play was skillfully created by Dean Bonis, Jenny Loviglio and Bill Ames.

"The Glass Menagerie" has been called "a memory play." The memory of this year's production will stay with anyone who was in the audience of the Little Theatre on February 1st, 2nd or 3rd, 1979.

FRENCH CLUB

Tracy McGarry and Jessica Kubansky presided over the fifty-six member French club this year. Their advisor was Mr. Carmine Trubiano. Laura Levine and Bobbi Hershon were treasurers. The club had an active and productive year. Members went to a French restaurant in Lexington, and to Quincy Market this fall. They sold candy during the year to raise money for their annual trip to Quebec. They also enjoyed going to see French shows and movies.

GERMAN CLUB

Co-Presidents David Kaufman and Matthew Koss led the German Club this year, aided by Vice President Andrew Dasheff, Treasurer Janice Chin, Secretary Marlese Mahon and Faculty Advisor Richard Clark. The club's activities this year included a reception for foreign born students, a fondue evening and a harbor cruise. The club has no regularly scheduled meetings, but the executive board meets often. According to Mr. Clark, this year's activities all had good turnouts.

THE ITALIAN CLUB

President Marc Coron, Vice President Joanne Sweeney, Treasurer Susan McCool, Secretaries Kathy Pepe and Paul Rufo, Social Chairpersons Ronnie Quintiliani and Christine Keany and Faculty Advisor Maria Vallone were in charge of this year's Italian Club. The club's activities included visiting the Italian Home for Children and selling stationery. Proceeds from the stationery sale went towards their annual Christmas party and their end of the year formal banquet.

ORIENTAL CLUB

The Oriental Club, under the leadership of President Hellen Kim, Vice-President Mary Kim, Secretary James Sonn and Assistant Secretary Mei Chang combined business with pleasure this year by staggering fund-raising activities with social expeditions. One of the club's major efforts was reviving Oriental Week which was held in April and included films and lectures on Eastern culture. The club also co-sponsored with the Art and Math Departments, Fly-a-Kite Day. The club is open to any student regardless of ethnic background.

RUSSIAN CLUB

The Russian Club, led by President David Rosenberg and Treasurer Daniel Gordon, examined the more entertaining aspects of Russian culture. The club gave Russian parties, where they saw films, heard lectures, read poetry, and enjoyed the food and the optimistic spirits of the Russian people. The club also wanted to explore first-hand some of the hardships that face the Russians, so they went cross-country skiing in January to experience the winter conditions of Siberia.

SPANISH CLUB

This year's officers of the Spanish Club were President Dan Fischberg, Vice President Richard Sorota, Secretary Marian Abernathy and Treasurer Jody Rubin. Along with Faculty Advisor Jean Degnon, the club went to Cambridge for folk dancing lessons, to the Whole World Celebration and to dinner at a Mexican Restaurant. The club's activities included a weekend trip to New Hampshire and a party welcoming the Spanish Exchange students to Newton North.

ELECTION COMMITTEE

The Election and Appointments Committee was established eight years ago under the guidance of the S.F.A. Its purpose was to avoid the fixing of student elections and also to appoint worthy students to certain non-elected positions. Since its inception, the Elections and Appointments Committee has publicized and supervised all Sophomore, Junior, Senior, and S.F.A. elections and awarded appointments to deserving students much to the benefit of the school. This year the Election and Appointments Committee was headed by President Rebecca Schiefer, members Mary Dolbear, Erik Toomre, Steve Burke, and Faculty Advisor Barbara Killion.

MODEL U.N.

President Richard Weitz, Director Marta Metcalf, Treasurer Martha Keenan and Faculty Advisor Henry Bolter were in charge of this year's Model U.N. This year students involved attended the Harvard University Model U.N. and the National High School Model U.N. In the spring, club members organized a model U.N. for ninth grade students from local junior high schools. Marta summed up the benefits of the Model U.N. when she said, "Members learn about international issues. They also learn how to develop speaking skills. The Model U.N. is a great experience."

EXCHANGE CLUB

Newton North's Exchange Club met every Wednesday during the two lunch periods. The club is made up of students who participated in the year's exchange trips to Paris, France and LaCaruna, Spain. The purpose of the club was to help students prepare for their trips. Members practiced conversation and researched subjects, which they might meet during their stays. The club also organized fund-raising activities to lower the cost of the trip. This year sixteen students went to Paris and sixteen students went to Spain. The exchange was completed when students from France and Spain came to Newton North in April.

This year's Afro-American Center was run by President Phyllis Russell, Vice President Van Allen, Secretaries Clintonia Wiley and Zina Britton, Treasurer Angela Scott and Faculty Advisor Larry Allen. This year the members sponsored guest speakers and readings by black authors for open campus. The club also had bake sales during Newton North's Black History Week. Member's celebrated Kwanea together. Kwanea is the African Christmas. One of the groups main goals this year was to work on obtaining a resource room.

IRISH STUDENT UNION

President Frank Morrissey, Vice President Brian Plunkett, Treasurer John Corcoran, Secretary Steve Coan and Faculty Advisor Barbara Killion led Newton North's Irish Student Union this year. Members met monthly to discuss different aspects of Irish culture. During its first year, the Irish Student Union planned trips to museums and arranged discussions and lectures about Irish history and literature. 1979 was the union's first year and the officers hope for increased membership next year.

Brian Plunkett, Steve Coan, John Corcoran, Barbara Killion, Frank Morrissey.

MALE CHAUVENIST PIG CLUB

The Male Chauvenist Pig Club was revived this year to oppose the ERA club. Said "Down Woman" Laredo, "These women have gone far enough!" This year the club traveled to southern France to teach foreign women "the American Way". Among club activities were a lecture by Bobby Riggs, weekly James Bond films, and the creation of a new rating system of girls based on the Dewey Decimal system. The club strongly argues that the policy of cruelty to women should not be associated with the MCPC, however, said "Chief Swine" Darviche: "Until women know their place in this world, the MCPC will continue to function at NNHS."

THE SHAKESPEAREAN PLAYERS

Under the leadership of King Scott Reilly, Queen Caroline Costello, Chancellor of the Exchequer Joseph Hershenson and Scribe Lisa Ehrmann, the Shakespearean Players started the year with their traditional Renaissance Dinner. In the fall they presented Oedipus Rex to the school. Throughout the year members worked with many of Shakespeare's plays, studying different aspects of theatre. The Players finished the year by presenting a selection of scenes from many of the plays which they had studied.

Front row, l-r: Joseph Hershenson, Sarah Weiss, Arlene Phalon, Caroline Costello. Second row, l-r: Lauren Inker, Greg Herr, Jeremy Kessler. PUNK ROCK CLUB

Newton North's Punk Rock Club enjoyed a very active year. Fall activities were kicked off with a picnic at the city morgue where one club member set up permanent residence. The Punk Rock Club, Newton North's newest culture oriented organization, is now occupying a room which was quickly vacated by the defunct Opera Club. The club's future plans include giving guided tours of Newton's scenic sewer system. Also under consideration is an attack on the school vault in order to gain funds with which to purchase safety pins, chains and orange hair dye.

SPEECH TEAM

Sharon Goldstein presided over Newton North's Speech Team with the help of Vice President Lisa Gradone and Advisor Lori Borden. The team had an eventful year that began with their first tournament on November 17. Everyone who went to the November tournament qualified for the State Final Competition which they attended on April 7. For the first time in several years the team held weekly meetings which enabled members to develop a strong sense of camaraderie.

IMAGES

Images, Newton North's newest theatre group is made up of both deaf and hearing students. Images was the idea of faculty members Evie Gaylas, Beth Goldman and Steve Kimball. The group, which is made up of about forty-five students, held weekly meetings. During the meetings members worked on theatrical exercises and practiced miming. The group's full-length production this year was "The Dr. in Spite of Himself." Images also performed at the Adams House Talent Show and at other schools.

ORANGE BROADCASTING

Click. "Good afternoon, this is . . ." Click. This familiar phrase begins a new segment of Orange Broadcasting's Tiger Talk. This pre-taped show, which is student written and produced, is aired bi-monthly on WNTN, Newton. In its twenty-five minutes, which features school news, a concert calendar, and student written comedy skits, Tiger Talk presents an accurate and entertaining view of high school life.

Another facet of Orange Broadcasting is NHR, North High Radio, a program designed to provide the school community with music and information. This production is aired Thursday mornings on Main Street. "Good afternoon and have a pleasant week," and so ends another phase of Orange Broadcasting's weekly programming schedule.

CHESS CLUB

Under the leadership of President Mike Kashket, Vice President Michael Freedman and Secretary-Treasurer Larry Weinfeld, Newton North's Chess Club had an active year. The club met every week during X2 block. Members played against each other and discussed each other's games. The club also participated in inter-scholastic meets such as the Greater Boston Scholastic Chess League and the Massachusetts School Chess Meet.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

This year's active Psychology Club was under the leadership of President Kim Hoffman, Treasurer Joanne Sweeney and Secretary Sara Alexander. The club held weekly meetings, during which they planned their many projects for this year. This year the club sponsored many lectures and films on psychology. The club also organized their annual Christmas party, held at Newton North, for the mentally retarded children from the Peabody School.

THE E.R.A. CLUB

The E.R.A. Club, newly formed this year, has sponsored a number of community and school affairs in order to further the development of womankind in this male dominated society.

In Newton (we feel a fair representative of the United States, as an "All-American City"), there exist jobs where male chauvinism is predominant. We examined these careers. The persons pictured represent a few of these occupations.

E.R.A. efforts this year included the establishment of persons' rooms at N.N.H.S. and painting over the city's manholes. We hope that our efforts this year helped combat prejudice against women and that in future years, such a club will be unnecessary.

BIKE CLUB

Newton North's long established Bike Club had a productive and active year under the leadership of President Peter Wilson, Treasurer Peter Siegenthaler and Secretary Jon Gaines. The club's twenty members participated in many trips this year including ones to Carlisle and Sherbourne. In the fall the club sponsored a bike repair clinic. All of Newton North's students were encouraged to participate in the clinic.

DEAF COUNCIL

Newton North's Deaf Council was under the direction of President John Howard and Faculty Advisor Fred Horan this year. The council planned many activities which were designed to both unify the deaf population of Newton North and to help deaf students to get involved in the day to day life at Newton North. Council members worked hard this year, making the year an eventful one for the Deaf Council.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Sophomore Class President Scott Humphrey's main goal this year was to make Newton North's sophomore class a more unified body. Humphrey said, "It seems to me that most sophomores tend to stay with groups from their junior high schools. I would like to see sophomores mix together more." The sophomore class held a dance in January. Humphrey hopes that this year's sophomore class was able to create traditions for future sophomore classes to follow.

JUNIOR CLASS COMMITTEE

The Junior Class Committee had a busy and productive year under the direction of President Vernon Williams, Vice President Robin Kantar, Secretary Jaime Fields, Treasurer Lisa Leffert and Faculty Advisor Henry Bolter. The committee's main goal was to have a prom which would be attended by the majority of juniors. Activities sponsored by the committee included bake sales, a Gong Show, and a "Wild and Crazy" week.

BARRY HOUSE COUNCIL

Co-Presidents Sharon Goldstein, Alison Walsh and Sam Lobar headed the biggest Barry House Council ever. The fifty members held a flea market and co-sponsored with the Bacon House Council a "Give Your Tray for Thanksgiving" program, to help provide Thanksgiving dinner for needy families. The council then concentrated on preparations for the annual "Rocco and the Celestials" concert which ran for two consecutive weekends this year. The concert, a major event at Newton North, was successful and the money raised went to the Barry House Scholarship Fund.

BEALS HOUSE COUNCIL

This year's Beals House Council tripled its membership from last year under the leadership of President Ellen Bond, Vice President Lisa Schiller, Treasurer Wendy Fallon, Secretaries Debby Miller and Larni Levy and Publicity Manager Maureen Codyer. The council's activities included a Halloween mask and pumpkin decorating contest, a dinner for Beals House faculty members and a tea to say goodbye to acting housemaster Lori Borden and to welcome new housemaster Meredith Ghattas. The increased membership contributed greatly to the council's active and productive year.

ADAMS HOUSE COUNCIL

This year's Adams House Council was led by President Laura Aronson, Vice President Liz Offen, Secretary Janice Chin and Treasurer Maryellen Pambookian. One of the council's major efforts was helping sophomores get settled in at Newton North. The council was rewarded for their efforts when many sophomores joined the council. The Adams House Talent Show has become an annual event at Newton North. The council worked hard this year, earning money to cover production costs. The money made from the show went to the Adams House Scholarship Fund.

PALMER HOUSE COUNCIL

This year's Palmer House Council, led by President Matthew Goldwait and Vice President Rebecca Saltzer, had an active and productive year. The officers' main goals were to increase participation in the council and to further unify Palmer House students. As a result, many sophomores and juniors were recruited and the council began planning activities. Among those activities on the council's agenda were early morning doughnut sales, carnation sales and a spring dance.

RILEY HOUSE COUNCIL

This year's active Riley House Council was led by President Peter Dennis, Vice Presidents Debbie Brezniak and Brian Plunkett, Secretary John Corcoran and Treasurer Bud Gartland. The annual Halloween dance in Millis and the spring outing to Hopkington were the main events sponsored by the council this year. The club raised money needed to fund the events by selling doughnuts before school on Fridays and by selling Christmas mistletoe before the winter vacation.

BACON HOUSE COUNCIL

The Bacon House Council had a productive year under the leadership of President Ellen Cutler, Vice Presidents Sarah Hospodor and Bob DeSouza, Secretary May Hung, Treasurer Diana Klashman, and Advisor Ron Boucher. A garage sale, several bake sales and operation of the Bacon Council store during the second semester highlighted the group's fund-raising activities. This year the council held many of its activities outside of school, but the purpose of all activities was to raise money for the Bacon House Scholarship fund.

S.F.A.

The Student-Faculty-Administration Board is a policy making council comprised of students, teachers, department heads, administrators, and housemasters. This year, the S.F.A. dealt with issues such as vandalism, open campus, student apathy, and program changes. Chairpersons this year are junior Jenny Keenan and French teacher Claire Fenn. Jenny said, "After last year's problems with work to rule, we're getting a lot more done this year through committee meetings and more general participation by everyone." Mrs. Fenn added, "We are in the process of redirecting the S.F.A., making it a more universal group. We want more input by more types of people." The S.F.A. had another busy and productive year and once again proved that the council has the power to be a significant factor in the running of Newton North.

TRANSITION

Transition, a senior alternative, run by Ron Boucher and Mike Morris, has had another successful year.

During the first semester, Transition met two blocks daily and one weeknight. This time was spent preparing for the second semester modules. The main focus during the first semester was on different perspectives. The study of different viewpoints was designed to help students better understand their second semester modules.

During the second semester students no longer attended regular classes but instead worked on four modules, each lasting one month. The modules concentrated on areas of social service, urban occupation and wilderness. The first three individual modules varied from working at Medfield State Hospital, to investigating the Massachusetts Port Authority, to working with a political figure at the State House. The last module, wilderness, concluded the year. After a ten-day training period students spent two weeks canoeing on the Penobscot River in Maine.

In addition to academic and philosophic preparation, one of the major activities Transition was involved in was fund raising. The various fund raising activities included bake sales, a flea market, the delivery and sale of cord wood, a backgammon tournament and operation of the Transition store. Most of the money raised went toward funding the wilderness module. Although enrollment in the program was smaller than past years, this year's group of students raised the most money of any group since Transition began.

Transition's purpose is exactly what its name implies: to help the student make the transition from high school to the larger world, no matter what his or her future plans may be.

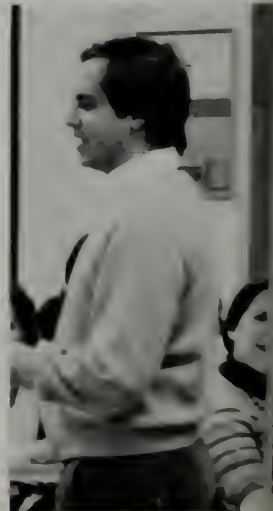

SENIOR CLASS COMMITTEE

Under the leadership of President Mike Darviche, Vice Presidents Charlie Slack and Pam Kenney, Secretary Nadine Snyder, Treasurer Brenda Sabbag, and Faculty Advisor Jim Schreider, the 1979 Senior Class Committee had a successful year. Events sponsored by the committee included a brunch, a motorcade, a Halloween costume contest, and a "have your picture taken with Santa" day. Members were busy at football games selling pretzels and orange and black pom-poms, key chains, hats and gloves. This year's prom was held at the Hyatt Regency in Cambridge and highlighted the events sponsored by this hard working committee.

ON CAMPUS '79

ON CAMPUS '78-79

On Campus '78-79 is a program designed to give students an opportunity to spend their in school free time productively. The program is run by Richard Scherr and a committee of over twenty students. The students help select and run the activities which On Campus sponsors.

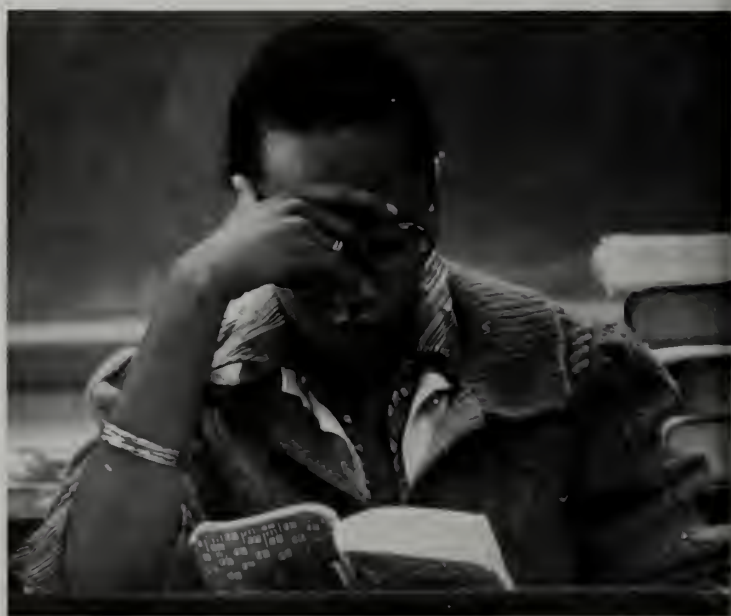

This year the program has run such films as The Charge of the Light Brigade and Exodus. The committee's Political Perspective Week, which featured such speakers as Paul Tsongas and Father Robert Drinan, appealed to the student body and the Newton community as well. Other notable On Campus '78-79 activities were: "One Step Beyond", a program which dealt with witchcraft, hypnotism, and parapsychology; "Science and Human Values", a program which offered lectures on whales and computers; Black History Week; and a speech by the Minister of State from Guyana, talking about the Jonestown murder/suicides.

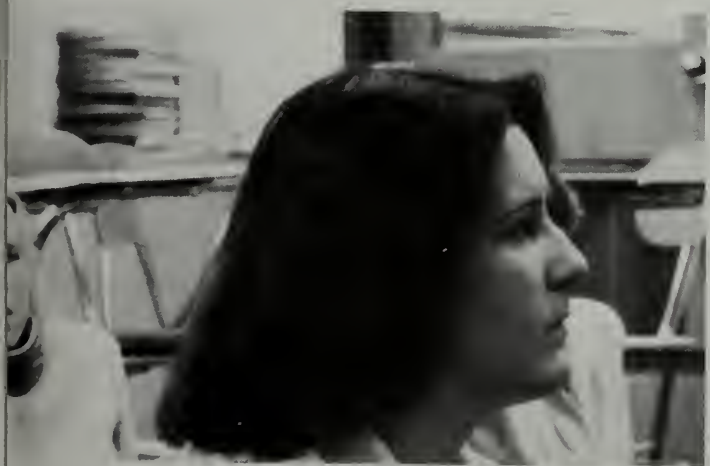

On Campus '78-79 was run with the students in mind and was, and will continue to be, a vital part of Newton North.

head to stay when Dankworth capped an 80-yard Bruin drive by faking a hand-off, darting through a huge hole in the right side of the line and sprinting untouched 32 yards to a touchdown.

Later in the second quarter UCLA took a 14-3 lead on another 80-yard TD drive, the key play being Brown's 35-yard burst through the right side and down the sideline to the ASU 12. Four plays later it was first and goal to go, and the UCLA coaches signaled for Dankworth

Texas did an el foldo before 30,476 jubilant fans at Chestnut Hill. "I kept saying I was fearful of coming up here and nobody believed me," lamented Longhorn Coach Darrell Royal. That was understandable. For the past two years B.C. had bowl aspirations but both times the Eagles were humiliated in their season openers by ranked opposition. Last year Notre Dame thumped them 17-3 and in 1974 Texas itself ran up a 23-point victory. Even Eagle diehards felt the current team was inferior to the last two. On top of that, Anthony Brown, the No. 1 tailback, was out with field goal while the Cougar defense kept Baylor from crossing midfield in the second half.

Texas A&M Fullback George Woodard scored two touchdowns, rushed for 111 yards and caught three passes to lead the Aggies over Virginia Tech 19-0. It could have been worse for the Gobblers. A&M lost two fumbles inside the five, was intercepted at the one and missed a 39-yard field goal.

Texas Tech intercepted Colorado's Jeff Austin five times to upset the Buffaloes 24-7. Linebacker Thomas Howard had two of the thefts and got at least a piece of 17 tackles.

On the second play from scrimmage, Neil Green, filling in for Brown, took a pitchout on his own 26, got a block from Guard Tom Lynch and raced 74 yards for a touchdown. B.C. increased its lead to 14-0 when Smith engineered a 12-play scoring drive following a Texas fumble on the Eagle four-yard line. The Longhorns came back to score on a 35-yard Mike Cordaro-to-Alfred Jackson TD pass and looked as if they might yet salvage the game when Halfback Johnny (Lam) Jones

The Red Raiders struck for two quick touchdowns by Tommy Duniven and Jimmy Williams, whose 87 yards rushing provided about as much offense as Tech needed.

Arkansas Halfback Ben Cowins kept one scoring drive alive by scooting 21 yards on third and 19, and scored the final touchdown in Arkansas' 33-16 win over Utah State.

Defending NAIA champion Texas A&I extended college football's longest winning streak to 28 games, pounding Slippery Rock 58-7. Larry Collins scored two touchdowns and Quarterback Larry Urban threw for two more SMU beat TCU 24-14

Thoughtprints, Newton North's art and literary magazine is made up of student submissions. Because Thoughtprints accepts various types of work, the magazine is an interesting sampling of Newton North students' artistic and literary talents. The magazine came out three times this year, in December, March, and May. The December issue was in the form of a calendar.

Thoughtprints is made up of four staffs: art, literary, publicity and production. Each art or literary staff member is required to work on either production or publicity. Editor-in-Chief is Jessica Kovar. The staffs are headed by Literary Editor David Jacobs, Art Editor Matthew Chinian, Production Manager Peter Siegenthaler and Publicity Manager Patty Suyemoto.

The art and literary staffs meet weekly to discuss and decide on submissions. If work is rejected, it is returned by a staff member. Criticism and help are offered and a piece can be resubmitted.

All production and publication work is done in the school by staff members. The magazine is also collated and sold by staff members.

The Newtonite continued to keep students and faculty informed of everything happening at Newton North this year. At the New England Scholastic Press Association's annual award ceremony, the Newtonite took top honors, being named New England's best high school newspaper. The staff was headed by Editor-in-Chief Charlie Slack and Managing Editor David Goren. The paper's four page editors were News Editor Howie Safran, News Analysis Editor Meredith Young, who took over for departing Adena Cohen, Feature Editor Peter Dennis and Sports Editor Ben Levitan. The Broadcast Staff of the Newtonite was under the direction of Ted McCarty, and the photography staff was under the direction of Bob Asher. Staffs dealing with the management aspect of the paper were led by Advertising Manager Mike Darviche, Business Manager Debbie Selig, and Circulation Manager Steve Burke. This year's staff was guided by Editorial Advisor Helen Smith and Business Advisor Ken Temkin.

You cry for the people you love and you know,
The places you've been and the thoughts that flowed,
You cherish the good times and laugh at the bad.
The memories of good friends you will always have
As time passes.

You think of loves you've had in the past,
Flatter yourself with imaginary romances your mind has had.
You dream and wish for things that aren't real,
Yet hold on fast to your fairy tale ideals
As time passes.

You wake up one morning to find you're not there.
The faces you've known are distant and unclear.
You reach out to grab hold of someone you love,
They slip away, you are left alone
As time passes.

Monday Morning — 8 A M

Hi! How ya doin'? D'ya have a good weekend? Mine was o.k. partied alot, but I had that (a = 00 = essay to write and I never did Schools? Don't ask! No, really, I haven't heard yet. Have you decided what you're going to do next year? Bad question, huh? Want to stop by my locker a sec? (CLUNK) — whoops, 'scuse me (I've only been in this school for five minutes and that's the third person I've walked into!) This locker never opens! Hold this a sec. thanks TA DA! (CRASH) — you o k ? Sorry about that — this locker gets a little crowded with three people in it Now where is my French book? (a = 00 — I must have left it at home — can I borrow yours? Just until C Block — and do ya have a pen? Thanks, I knew I could depend on you — remind me to give 'em back to you. (SLAM) What time is it? Wow, we're early for once! Want to go have a smoke? No way, I refuse to go into there, it is disgusting! You can't ever breath — how 'bout Lowell Ave ? Oh yeah, I forgot, they closed it. Elm Street? No, they probably won't let anyone stand there either. Well, I guess it will be Hull Street. Ya got everything? Let's go good griet, can you believe that? I didn't know that Mark and Sarah were going out — that is an odd couple. Really? I didn't see them there. What a good concert, huh? Even the warm-up was pretty good. You know why Cindy got so bummed out? You know those little bears that everyone has, you know, they grab on to things with their arms? Well, she lost hers when they went to the bathroom during intermission. She thinks someone ripped it off — yeah, she had it on her overall strap. You think she'd notice someone grabbing at her chest, but you know how crowded those bathrooms get — almost as bad as here. Hey, did you see Saturday Night Live last week? No, this weekend that just passed. You mean you missed Steve Martin to go to that pit? It was excellent! You should have seen John Belushi, he hey Dave, how's it going? You know, he got bagged Friday night. Nah, it's cool, they threatened to take his license away, then they just said "Get moving son!" Yeah, I heard he played well, he must have been out celebrating. No, I didn't see it, I had to work, but I heard we killed 'em. Huh? When's the next home game? Bummer, I have to work. Maybe I'll call in sick. Hi Mary. You're kidding. How could they deter someone like her? Yeah, I know, small schools are tough to get in to. But, you know what? I don't think I'd want to go someplace like that — I mean, I couldn't take going to a school any smaller than North — this place gets small enough as it is, you know? And like, it would be weird going to a college that didn't even have the facilities we have here. (Watch it — he's about to back into you) Yeah, I can see that, but who really cares about knowing your professors? Especially if they're anything like some of the teachers here. Did you know that John got kicked out of English just because he tried to climb out of the window? Yup, love that chlorine smell . . . WATCH THE DOOR . . . What a nice day — huh? Hey, let's go sit in the stadium a minute — I want to see who's playing Frisbee in all this muck. It's probably Ricky trying out the one he got at the Garden. You going to see Rocco? It should be good this year — they're having two shows. It? I don't know. Sometime soon. That should be good, there's going to be a punk rock band. Mr. D'Agnese? He'll probably do scenes from Disco Dracula. I wonder if anyone'll ever get around to fixing this stadium? Actually, I kind of like it the way it is, ya know? It's got . . . character. You believe that? Let me tell you, I think you'd know if there were rats in here. Who's that in the library window? Well, whoever it is just waved to me. No, but really, I think it's pretty cool. The stadium, dummy. It's the only thing that's left of old Newton High besides the fence on the other side of the parking lot. Yeah, right along Walnut Street. But just think not too long from now it'll be our parents sitting here, and we'll be down there in our little caps and gowns, and Mr. Smith will be singing the Star Spangled Banner. Yah, well I'm going to miss it too, at least the kids. I wonder how many of them I'll ever see again. Reunions? I think the class secretary does them, or somebody like that. But that's not for ten years — everything will be different then! Let's come back and visit together next year. See the old teachers, go down Newtonville and get a pizza, hang around the library steps, have a smoke out on Hull Street — it'll be like old times . . . Wow, it's late, better get going. Thanks for the book — see ya F Block, right? Wait, what lunch do you have? I have all three, I mean both. Meet ya in the caf, o.k.?

Behind the running of returning senior co-captain Dan Laredo and Paul Fischer as well as senior Andy Epstein and the great efforts of first time cross-country runners Juniors Linus Vachon and Dave Vona, the Tigers had their best season ever. It would have been hard however, for the team to achieve state-wide fame without a strong group of runners backing the leaders.

Joe Connolly, in his seventh season at North, coached the J.V. while Mark Lech, a superb middle distance runner from Northeastern, handled the Varsity. Connolly as the head coach of the state's number one team received the Globe's "Best Coach of the Year Award" for Eastern Massachusetts. Working as a close, well-balanced team, the Tigers proved to the League as well as the state that they were the team to beat. After a first meet loss to Weymouth South, the North harriers reeled off seven consecutive victories including one over Brockton, the first in twelve years. The Tigers then went on to claim the Suburban League Championship, the Division I Championship and the All-State Crown.

Laredo and Fischer consistently led the team to victories with many first and second place finishes. Both were elected to the Globe's All-Scholastic Cross-Country Team. In Division I race Laredo, Fischer, and Vona placed in the top ten to propel Newton North to its first Division I title with 69 points, a convincing 59 points ahead of runner-up Lexington.

This victory earned the Tigers the right to compete in the All-State meet held on November 11. The team bypassed the Suburban League meet with their sights set on that date. The rest paid off and behind the running of Fischer, Laredo, and Vona, placing fifth, eleventh, and sixteenth respectively, the Tigers dethroned defending champions Salem and earned the state title.

Other runners contributing to North's fine season included Seniors Dave Ventura and Peter Tang, who both competed in the all-state meet, and Jerry Epstein and Bruce Sarota. Coach Connolly is optimistic about the next few years for his team, with returning talents such as Sophomores Peter Leary, Mark Sasahara and Brian Young.

An unknowing bystander who happened to walk by the Newton North track this fall might have thought he was witnessing Clafflin elementary students at play. In fact, the ziz-zagging, somersaulting youngsters were the members of the Newton North Girls' Cross Country team intensely involved in a game of follow the leader. Just as likely, one may have seen the girls' personification of a transistor radio, as they jammed as close together as possible to form a square and featured such classics as "Mama's Little Baby Loves Shortenin' Bread" (lead singer: Cathy Sotir), "Gray Squirrel" (lead singer: Margie Sheridan), and "Old MacDonald" (lead singer: Rachel Berg).

The spirit and closeness of the team propelled the Tigers to unite in great team efforts as the girls finished the season with a respectable 6-2 record. The two losses, to the strong Weymouth South and Brockton teams, were due to Newton's smaller numbers.

Coach Peter Martin, besides being the most devious "Simon Says" leader of the team, was considered by the girls the best Cross Country coach to be had. He developed the potential of every girl who was willing to work hard.

Senior tri-captain Rachel Berg, Junior captain elect Martha Keenan and sophomore Cathy Sotir were the Tigers' front runners. Senior tri-captains Ilse Pistone and Cynthia Antonellis, as well as senior Julie Sylvia comprised a tough group who followed closely behind the leaders. Senior runners Margie Sheridan and Martha Medcalf could always be depended on for strong finishes. Junior co-captain elect Judy Hayes worked hard and placed well. First year runners senior Lee Pistone, and sophomores Robin Weingarten and Cathy Roy made much progress in their competitive running.

With a number of juniors and sophomores returning, coach Martin is highly optimistic as to the future of next year's team.

With a truly impressive 13-2-1 record North finished only one point behind Brockton for a second place in the Suburban League. The team was dethroned from the league crown for the first time since 1976, but advanced to the quarter finals of the Eastern Massachusetts tournament where they were eliminated in their third game by Needham.

Starting fast, the team amassed 13 goals in the first three games of the season to one goal for their opponents. Against Waltham they suffered their first setback with a 3-2 loss at Bentley. Despite this defeat Newton had a key victory over Brockton 1-0, to end the first half of the season.

Only two games into the second half, North was shocked when they had to settle for a tie against Brookline 1-1, in the most physical and rowdy game of the season. North was still not out of the running for the Suburban League crown, and head coach Tom Williams and assistant Larry Webb rallied the team for their last game. Newton needed a victory over Brockton to clinch the Suburban League championship, but they were dominated by Brockton who won the game 5-1.

With their impressive record Newton was seeded ninth in the Eastern Massachusetts Tournament. Hosting Greater Lawrence in the first round, North overpowered them with a 4-0 win. Next North travelled to Winchester. Early in the game Newton was down, but Greg Pachus two goals in the second half to pull off a 2-1 victory.

North came to Boston University for their third tournament game, trying to avenge losses to Needham of the last two years. Injuries were a factor in the game, but the Tigers still played well, losing the game 3-0.

This year's team was comprised on a fine group of individuals as demonstrated by the awards received by many team members. Senior co-captain David Sheridan was the league's most valuable player, he was elected a member of the Globes All-Scholastic Team as well as the All-New England and All-State teams. Co-captain David Lowe, senior midfielder Mario Santi, and senior goalie Mike Ambrosino were named to the All-Suburban team. Ambrosino was also distinguished as the best goalie and the fifth best player in the league. An exhibit of how well these individuals worked together was that Ambrosino and North's defense tallied eight shutouts.

The next few years are promising ones for the Newton North High School's soccer team as a number of talented sophomores and juniors will be returning. Among them, unanimously elected co-captain for 1979, Jorge Montoya will lead the Tiger's pursuit of another title.

In three years, the girls' soccer team at NNHS has come of age. With the impressive record of eighteen wins, three losses, and one tie, the Tigers captured the Suburban League crown for the third straight year. The team finished the season as semifinalists in the Eastern Massachusetts Tournament, ranking third in the state behind Needham and Medfield.

Under the leadership of quad-captains seniors Susan Murray, Carol McCarthy, Marion Taillacq and junior Sherry Levin, the Tigers started off the season with a 3-1 win over Weymouth North. The girls went on to victory over Brookline, and then trounced North Quincy 8-0. The girls then came up against their nemesis Needham, and lost 1-2. The Tigers won their next seven games, defeating Westwood, Quincy, Waltham, Weymouth South, Cambridge, Norwood and Weymouth North. The team's second loss was at the hands of Brookline 1-2. The girls won three more times, beating North Quincy, Norwood and Quincy before tying Burlington 1-1. The Tigers' third loss came at the hands of Winchester. The girls rounded up the season with wins over Cambridge, Weymouth South and Waltham. What a record — the Tigers scored eighty goals, and allowed only ten goals to be scored against them!

The girls' soccer team, started by Coaches Barry "Fuzzy" Howland and John "Oscar" Meyer three years ago, has done quite well for such a young team, finishing among the top five teams in the state in all of its existing years. Fuzzy is proud of his team, boasting that seven girls, seniors Joni Morrissey, Susan Murray, Carol McCarthy, along with juniors Janice Casey, Judy Hinchey, Sherry Levin and Caroline Ryan were named to the Suburban League All-Star team. Morrissey, the league MVP, also earned a spot on the Globe All-Scholastic team.

This year's seniors were the original team, as sophomores, and became a close group through soccer. Seniors receiving third year plaques include Elaine Basinet, Carol Carnes, Brenda Sabbag, Janet Jepsen, Bonnie Goodfellow, Bonnie Pollard, Karen Pollard, Barbara McGrath, Susan Jessup, Kathy O'Neill, Rebecca Schleifer, Joni Morrissey, Kathy Malloy, Jamie Feldman, Carol Whoriskey, Carol McCarthy, Susan Murray and Marion Taillacq.

Under the leadership of tri-captains Hinchey, Casey, and Levin, the future of the girls' soccer team looks promising.

The fighting Tigers of '78 finished the football season with a highly respectable record of 8 and 2. In the tradition of the fine teams of Newton North High, the defense was the key to their success. The "Black Phantom" defense lead by senior co-captains Steven Burke and Eric DiMartino, tied a school record for most shutouts in a season, numbering six. The Tigers starting eleven allowed only two touchdowns, a field goal, and one conversion as they proved themselves to be the best defensive team in the state. Seniors George Sementelli, Steve Wasson, Matthew Goldwait, Dan Corrigan and Donny Troy comprised a superior defensive line that allowed few opposing ball carriers to break through. There were also the fine linebacking corps and secondary of Newton to stop that player who so rarely broke through Newton's defensive line. Joining DiMartino at linebacker were seniors Dallas Morgan and Steve Flynn. Seniors Mike Brandon, Bill Uberti, Donny Murphy, Ed Asaley and junior Noel Foley teamed with Burke to stifle the opponents aerial attacks and were the perfect complement to the powerful line.

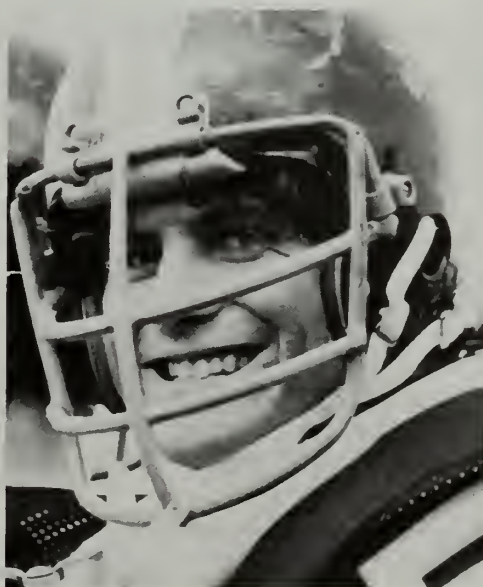

The Tiger offense led by senior signal-caller Charlie Slack effectively moved the ball against anyone and everyone. Senior Mark O'Brian led an inexperienced offensive line consisting of guards senior Tom Mannix and junior halfback Gary Frechette. The offense set some records of its own as Frechette broke the single season school rushing mark by running for 1,147 yards. The offense managed to run for more than 300 yards in three games during the season, also a record. The fine outside running of Frechette was complemented by the superior passing of quarterback Slack and the inside running of Leonard. Real credit should be given to the offensive line and its leader O'Brian, whose maturity over the season was key.

The first half of the season saw some problems for the North gridders. After beating Framingham North opening day 14-0, the Tigers ran into problems. They lost two out of their next three games, Medford (10-2) and Brockton (8-7). Midway through the season the team was 3 and 2 and still had to face arch rivals Waltham and Brookline. The boys came through by winning their last five games and outscoring their opponents 122 to 6. The highlights of the season were the trouncing of Waltham by a score of 25-0, and of course the traditional Thanksgiving Day game that saw North whip its neighbors Brookline, 20-0.

The coaches are always a factor in the outcome of a team's success and the Tiger coaches are a prime example of just how much. Head coach Norm Walker along with his assistants Peter Capodilupo, Richard Perkins, Tom Rizzuti, and Bill Mataskill, took a group of inexperienced players and produced one of the best teams in the state. The key to the team's success according to Coach Walker was the unselfishness of the players. A team composed of many talented athletes, the '78 Tigers were as fine an example of a "team" as ever seen at Newton North High School.

With problems such as no official league, only three returning starters and an injured co-captain, some teams would yield to the disappointments and no longer strive for perfection. But under Pam Jones' coaching, the girls' field hockey team finished with a 5-4-1 mark.

During the girls' first game against Burlington, senior co-captain Randi Reiss broke her kneecap and was sidelined for the season. The loss left senior co-captain Anne Geagan to manage the team, with the help of senior Paula Buckley. "The girls looked up to Paula," said Jones.

Although the season marked the first time in five years that the team did not qualify for the State Tournament, Jones feels that the girls had a good season and has no regrets. "We had a very good team considering that we only had three returning starters, and the girls were really a super bunch." Coach Jones added that with many girls returning, next year's team looks promising.

Though the team will lose seniors Geagan, Reiss, Buckley and Emily Katz, the following juniors will return for 1979 — Diana Proia, Donna Proia, Susan Armstrong, Robin Kantar, Jenny Keenan and Jackie Gladu (this year's high-scorer).

GOLF

This year the golf season was in the fall instead of the spring as it has been in the past. The scoring was done by stroke play as opposed to match play. Eight players from each team participated in the matches and the four low scores were added together to comprise the team score. The team with the lowest score won the matches.

Newton North's home course was at Braeburn Country Club. The team practiced there as often as possible. Most matches consisted of nine holes or, if started early enough, fifteen holes. The course was maintained in excellent playing condition throughout the season.

This year's coach was Jack Neville. Neville, the current pro at Leo J. Martin Memorial Golf Course, played on the Newton North golf team in 1961. The captains of the 1978 team were senior Mike DeMeo and junior Paul Jepson.

The season began with a 275-347 win over Waltham. The four qualifiers for North were senior David Yogel, juniors Paul Jepson and Peter Southard and sophomore John Jepson. North went on to two more easy victories over Cambridge and Quincy. The consistent low scores were brought in by DeMeo, the Jepson brothers, and Southard.

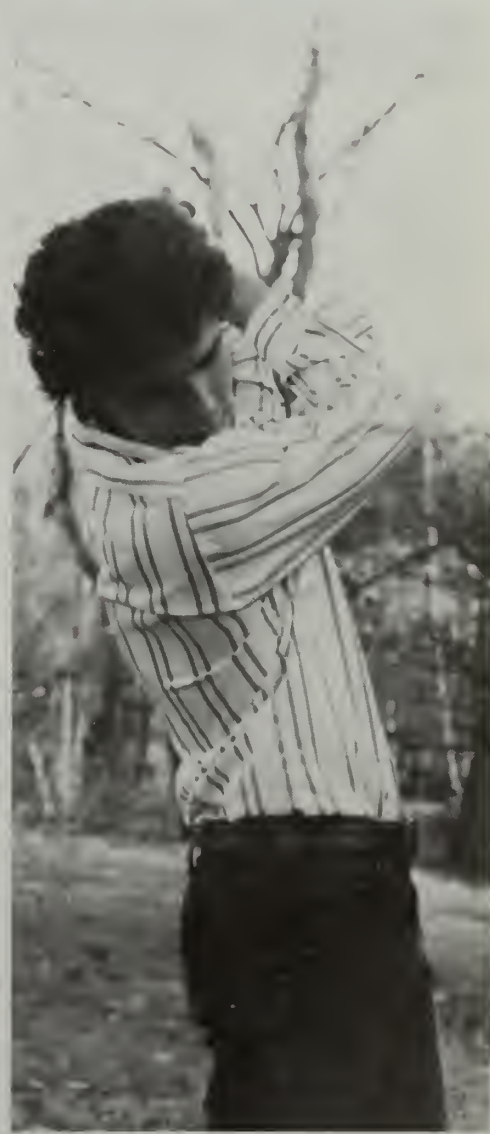

The Tigers went on to defeat Melrose and Brockton with very close scores. Sophomore Jimmy Alden played a major role in beating Brockton. With low scores for North of 60, 63, 66, and 74 and one group left to come in the team was losing by four. Alden turned in a timely 68 to lower the team score by six and to defeat the tough Brockton team by two.

Newton North coasted through the North Quincy and Weymouth South matches and maintained its undefeated record by beating both Reading and Melrose by one point.

DeMeo was unable to play in the Weymouth North match because of an injured thumb. He did not participate in the next two matches and North with its 10-0-0 record suffered from it. The team played top-ranked Brookline at Putterham Meadows Golf Course, Brookline's home course. It was a tough day for the Tigers and the final score was Brookline-207, Newton North-230. Next North lost to Lexington primarily because of a misinterpretation of the rules on the part of the Newton players. Following the match the Tigers were provided with official rule books for the upcoming Suburban match.

Six players participated in the Suburbans. They were DeMeo, Paul and John Jepson, Peter Southard, junior David Blouin, and Jimmy Alden. Senior Eddie Goldfinger was the alternate. The match was held at Ponkapong Golf Course and eighteen holes were played. Out of four teams, North came in third, losing by a mere six points to Brookline and by three to Brockton. The team ended its season with an impressive 10-2 record.

GIRLS' SWIMMING

The record of the 1978 swim team is not indicative of the many fine swimmers who comprise this group. There were many outstanding individual performances as shown by the six school records that were broken this season. Senior co-captain Leslie Swift set records in the two-hundred and five-hundred freestyle while junior Joanne Fay led the way in the individual medley and the breaststroke. Another record setter was junior Susan O'Halloran who broke the records in the fifty and one-hundred yard freestyle.

Other high point-getters for the Tigers were senior co-captain Joanna Bonazoli in a variety of events, and junior Ann Mulvaney. Junior Jessica Hopper, a first year diver for the team, managed to place high in each meet.

There was a large turn out of sophomores this year, all of whom helped to bring in points. With the return of sophomore stand-outs Tracy Greene, Mara Rose, Leslie Tocci and Laura Pill, next year's Tiger swim team should prove strong.

GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL

The girls' volleyball team had a very productive season, finishing with an 8-9 record. Although their record was not among the top in the league, the girls achieved and surpassed many of the goals they set for themselves.

With only seniors captain Betty Colantropo and Laura Flaherty returning from last year's team, the girls had their work cut out for them. The team was rewarded for their long hard work. One of the highlights of the season was the Tigers' victory over Lynnfield High School, knocking the Lynnfield girls out of the state tournament.

Led by seniors captain Colantropo and Flaherty, the team was well rounded. Junior Gale Cole was the Tigers' setter, placing the ball for seniors Laura Laemmle, Lenor Ross, Karen Taleas, and Julie Blauer to bump and spike.

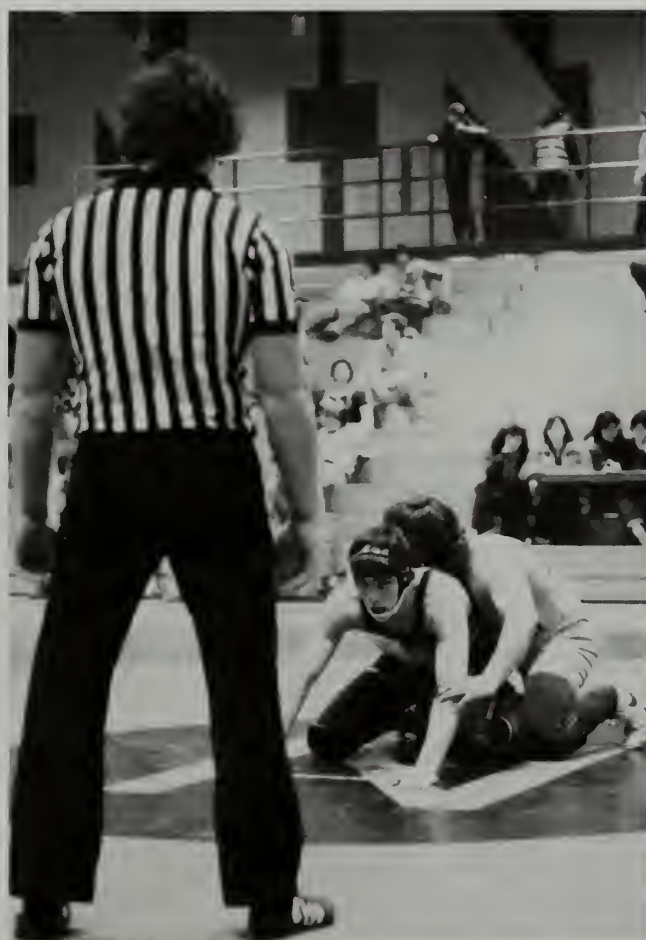

"We didn't lack talent," commented coach Jay Cradle, "just court experience." With the return of sophomores Ellen Lenson, Toby Goldberg, Wendy Fai and stand-out Christy Gallier next year's team looks promising.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

The boys' basketball team enjoyed a rewarding season, finishing with a 10-9 record. Among the highlights of the year were the winning of the Belmont Tournament, with a two-point thriller over Concord-Carlisle in the final; a sweep of traditional rival Waltham; a big scare of nationally ranked Cambridge Rindge and Latin; and squeakers over Lincoln-Sudbury and Quincy. Four consecutive heart-breaking defeats (by a total of thirteen points!) prevented the Tigers from producing a brilliant record, but, nonetheless, they proved to be one of the most respected teams in the state. Inspired by the leadership, intensity and patience of seniors Jim (La Machine) Calechman, Dave (Smooth) Coppola, Phil (Sweet) Averbuck, John (Hondo) Berrigan, Bruce (Spoon) Cutler, Joe Fucci and Tom Kelly; sparked by the youthful exuberance of juniors Dennis (Red) Berube, Peter (Golden Greek) Coufos, Noel Foley, Bob Hess, Dave (Quake) Negrotti and Royce (Double D)

Terrell; and guided by the crafty coaching of head coach Jerry (Slick) Phillips and assistant coach Peter (Bottoms Up) Constance, the basketball team had a very satisfying season.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls' varsity basketball team had a fine season, finishing with a 14-3 record. After making the state tournament last year, the team is again looking forward to the tournament and establishing Newton's name as a basketball power.

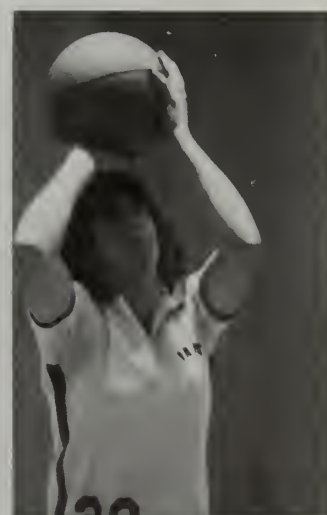

After posting a 6-0 pre-season record, the Tigers started off their season on a sour note as they lost their first three games. They came back to win their next six games, including a win over top-ranked Cambridge.

The team's offense was led by senior captain Laura Flaherty, junior Sherry Levin and sophomore Donna Yaffe, all averaging in double figures. Defense, as exhibited by such key players as juniors Judy Hinchey and Diana Proia has become known as Newton's most devastating characteristic. Other team members who made important contributions were senior Anne Geagan, juniors Mary Beth Bradley and Sue Armstrong and sophomore Patty Ackerley.

The team worked hard to achieve its goals, and despite many injuries, including the loss of sophomore Christy Gallier, provided some of the best competition in the Suburban League.

Although finishing third in the Suburban League, the girls fared well in the State Tournament defeating Hingham 61 to 38 to become the South Sectional State champs. In the highlight of Newton girls' basketball, the Tigers went on to play Cambridge Rindge and Latin in the semi-finals of the State Tournament at Boston Garden. They lost a closely contested game to the Cambridge team, who went on to become the State Champions.

BOYS' GYMNASTICS

The 1979 season was one of the most gratifying since the beginning of Newton's gymnastic history. The Tigers posted a 9-1 record, and won the league title for the second consecutive year. Coach George Jessup has compiled a 76% career won-lost record in league competition, winning the league trophy nine times in the past fourteen years.

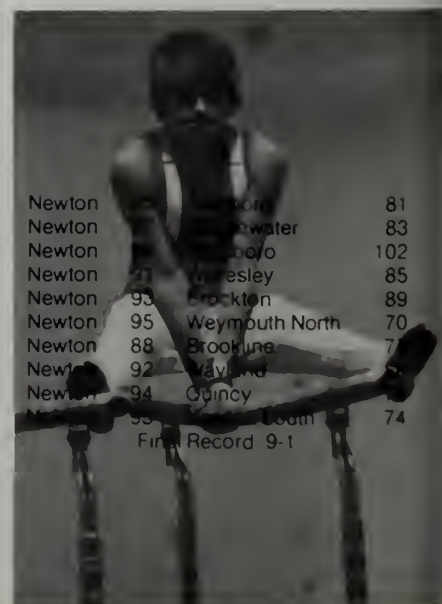

The Tigers' only defeat this year was to a very strong Westboro team. The highlights of the season were a come-from-behind victory over Brockton and a strong victory over arch-rival Weymouth North.

The seniors, co-captains Paul Anderson and Guy LeBlanc, along with Jimmy Antonellis, Tim Riviere, and Peter Feig helped the remainder of the team continually strive for perfection. This attitude was duplicated by the juniors: Cecil Andrews, Setbair Nair, Jimmy Magliozzi, Jeff Samson and David Shine. Junior Brian Cove, the team's all-around gymnast, managed to score at least a third of the team's points each meet.

Jessup and Martin's "Munchkins" were a vital addition to the squad; each managed to hold their own. Sophomores Paul Gilbert, Wayne LeBlanc, Mike McDade, Mark Polito and Marc Porter were put under fire from the very beginning and all gained a berth on the varsity squad. With their junior counterparts, Newton North will be a team to be reckoned with next year.

The beauty of gymnastics is self-achievement along with continuous improvement. The limits are boundless. The 1979 squad showed an increase of over twenty points since its first intra-squad meet. The Tigers placed five gymnasts in the State Individual Championships, and also enjoyed their first alumni meet (we won't mention the score) where the old-timers from the class of '63 did their best to hang in there.

The benefits have been many. This year's Tiger gymnasts were league champions. Too, the co-educational aspect of both boys' and girls' teams working with each other and cheering the other team on was a definite positive boost to both practices and meets. The leadership from captains LeBlanc and Anderson, the administrative help of Jamie Feldman plus the expertise of coaches Martin and Jessup have made '79 a super season.

For the third consecutive year the girls' gymnastics team captured the suburban league title. The team defeated Brockton 103.35 to 99.4 and Brookline 106.45 to 105.70, their two toughest meets to finish the league with an undefeated record of 6-0, and an overall record of 10-0.

The Brockton meet prepared the gymnasts for tough competition from Weymouth and Brookline and also helped them gain confidence. The meet also gave the team a good indication of whether they would win the league title or not.

Returning to this year's line-up from last year's squad are the team's all-around captains, seniors Lee Pistone and Laura Rosenblatt, seniors Betty Colantropo, and Darlene Vona. First year seniors that have aided the team are Bonnie Goodfellow, Rosanne Albanese, and Bonnie Pollard. Two newcomers to the squad are juniors Beth Lizotte, a former track team member who is very strong on bars and vaulting, and Jessica Hopper whose agility and finesse have impressed many. Meg Geagan, another junior, is also strong on the beam and vaulting. Junior Abby Aspel aided the Tigers with a strong bar and floor exercise routine. Shara Lewis provided the Tigers' sophomore power, adding points with her beam and floor routines.

HOCKEY

As the Tigers lost a number of starters from last year's squad, 1979 was a rebuilding year for the hockey team. Nevertheless, the Tigers managed to overcome initial difficulties involved with training a number of first year varsity players, as well as to adjust to a demanding practice schedule (including biweekly 6:00 a.m. practices!) and so uphold Newton North's reputation as a Suburban League hockey power.

Senior Mickey DeMeo ran the Tigers' offense, with the aid of powerhouse captain Jim McHale, who led the team, as well as the league, in points. Other offensive stand-outs for the Tigers were seniors center David LaRoche, a key playmaker, and Bill McGary. Three year starter senior captain Mike Thomas, with the help of senior Jeff Larson, led the Tigers' defense. Seniors Peter McHugh and Mike Burns were other important players for the team. Senior Paul Martin began the season in net for the Tigers. After he graduated in January, seniors Steve Zito and Paul Bloomenstein shared the goalie position for the remainder of the season.

Though the year started off slowly, the season was highlighted by wins such as a 3-1 victory over traditional rival Waltham. With the return of players such as juniors John Leavitt, Greg Pachus and Glenn Chisholm, next year's team looks promising.

ALPINE SKIING

Despite a lack of snow during most of this year's season, the downhill team conditioned themselves by running, playing soccer and using the weight room.

In the middle of the training season the team challenged the smaller, less aggressive cross-country ski team to a track meet. It came down to the last event, the 8 by 220 co-ed relay. After a diligent effort by the Nordic team the Alpine team emerged as the champion.

Most of the soccer games were Alpine versus Nordic. The games soon became known as "mucca" games due to the immense amount of rain. Two soccer (mucca) balls were used so the games were always filled with action. Once again the downhill team won over the Nordic team. With the aid of Coach Fernandes, who lent his talents, the ball hardly ever reached the Alpine team's defensive line.

When they finally did get some snow the team was prepared. They headed off to Prospect Mountain with glorious expectations. Captains seniors Alison Guiney and Chris Heesplink along with junior Jim "Doughboy" Zalzman helped to lead the team to a win over Weston and Wellesley. Both Jenny Keenan and Carrie Chernov "bought it" with spectacular wipe outs, the kind that have become a symbol of the team's skiing prowess.

The bus rides to and from the "Prospect Alps" became famous for bad baby jokes by Justin McNary and Peter Cutler, and numerous mitten fights among John Corcoran, Tom Karoff and Ted Wekstein. The bus never lacked music, with Jill Weissman's "wild" songs and Peter Sigourney singing songs about "men." To escape these insane and rowdy bus rides, Josh Wortzel often had his chauffeured Mercedes pick him up at the slopes.

NORDIC SKIING

It could have been so sweet . . . On January 4 the snow begins to fall. By the end of the storm the Greater Boston area has received a foot and a half of fresh powder. The Nordic ski team enters its first meet with a mixture of experience and uninitiated eagerness. We do not win the first meet, but fare well considering that almost half of the team has not raced before. The snow continues to fall. With more practice on skis the new members gain experience and the rest of the team reaches peak condition. In the following meets the Nordic team shows itself to be far and away the best team in the league. By the end of the year we are in first place. The trophy is returned to Newton North. As I say it could have been so sweet, but it was not to be. It did not snow on January 4, nor did it snow on January 5, 6, or 20. As a matter of fact it did not snow at all in January, nor in the first few weeks of February. You cannot run a cross-country ski race without snow.

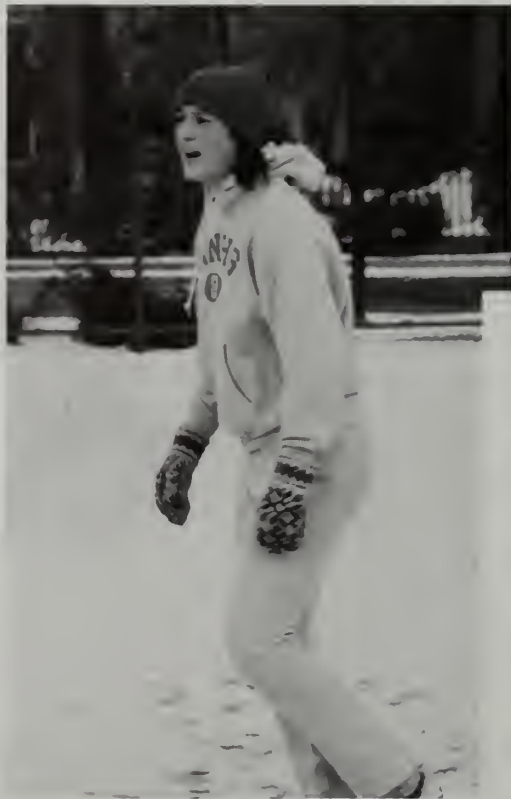

At the beginning of the year it looked like the Nordic team had everything necessary to repeat as the champions of Mass Bay High School Ski League. They had not lost many people who had skied the year before. Both the boys and the girls team gained many new members, both experienced and unexperienced skiers.

During December the team ran basically every day along with an occasional soccer game (the Nordic soccer team was better than the Alpine soccer team). The Nordic team triumphed in a track and field event, despite the manipulation of a biased head coach — do not believe what anybody on the Alpine team says. We trained on dry land with the goal of training in the snow after Christmas vacation.

Even without snow the morale of the team remained high. Competition against the Alpine team provided incentive to work.

There are some very dedicated people on this team who refuse to let a lack of snow kill their desire to race. Needless to say, it has been a disappointing season for the seniors who have been on the team for three years: Kevin Lane, Margie Sheridan, and Captains Leslie Swift and Tim Sullivan.

Captain senior Mark Foisy and junior Matt Herman, the two highest averaging shooters, led the 1979 Tiger rifle team to a 5-4 record. For the first half of the season, the Tigers' rifle team was in a slump, but they managed to work their way out of it when junior Diana Klashman led the team to a 901-877 victory over Waltham. From this point on, the team managed to shoot above 875 in each match. Seniors on the team included three year veterans captains Bruce Binkerhoff and Jeff Sudbey, as well as Hidemi Sakomoto.

Suburban League Champs! Co-captains Mike Drew and Dan Laredo led the indoor track team to a 7-0 season. Head coach Fred Yaitanes, assistant coach Fred Frelow and hurdle coach Jamie Dorazio saw the team to its first indoor title in seven years. Except for the big meet against Brockton the Tigers had little trouble destroying the rest of the league.

The outstanding distance squad consisted of senior milers Laredo, Andy Epstein and Paul Fischer (who set a school record at 4:21.4), and two-milers seniors Bruce Sorota, Jerry Epstein, junior Dave Vona and sophomore Peter Leary. Junior Mike Pendergast, who captured the school record with a time of 2:19.6, and Linus Vachon were the thousand yarders. Seniors Tony Ricker, Peter Dennis and Larry Dore handled the 600 while captain Drew and junior Ray Mooney and sophomore Steve Tabor were cookin' in the 300. The junior dash team of Paul Dibenedetti, Glen Goldman and Ray Mooney was a force to be reckoned with!

GIRLS' INDOOR TRACK

For the first time in its three year existence the NNHS girls' indoor track team made itself the team to beat in the Suburban League, ending the season with a perfect record of 8-0. The title was clinched. Coaches Bob Glennon and Peter Martin believe that the key to the team's success was that all 21 girls remained dedicated throughout the season and each gave her maximum effort at each meet. With virtually no injuries and at least two girls in every event, the Tigers blasted their way through the first six meets. But the pressure was really put on in the last two meets. These meets were against Brockton and Brookline, the two most powerful teams in the league along with Newton. Brockton was overwhelmed in an emotionally packed meet. As well as the victory over Brockton on January 26 a victory over discrimination was compiled. The Tigers were finally allowed to run a meet on their own track instead of at the inadequate facilities of Brookline High School. Co-captain Lauren Jones was the leader of this move as she brought the case of discrimination before City Hall. The tremendous effort put out in the Brookline meet let Newton North finally take its victory lap around Brookline's indoor courts.

Senior co-captains Laura Laemmle and Phyllis Russell exhibited excellent leadership qualities and promoted team spirit. Both did the hurdles and high jump. In the two mile, junior Judy Hayes made tremendous improvement during the season with a best time of 12:40. Other two milers were seniors Meg Burns and Yvonne Yannoni who, as first year runners, ran very well. In the mile sophomore Cathy Sotir was one of the top runners in the league with a time of 5:30. Janet Schnee, a junior, also made marked improvement throughout the season. Junior Donna Proia was second in the league in the 1000 meter run with time of 2:52. Junior Julie Huber and sophomore Alison Leary also did the 1000. Huber and Proia ran the 600 meter run as well. Senior Rachel Berg ran the 600, the 1000 and the mile in dual meets. In the 300 meter run were senior Elaine Basinet, junior Linda Roberts and sophomore Connie Balodimos.

Co-captain Jones ran the best times in the league in the 300 (at 42.5), the hurdles and the 40 yd. dash. Other hurdlers were senior Lee Pendergast and junior Suzy Schön who left before the season was over to go to Israel. The team was managed by junior Jeannine Boudreau who was often seen hurriedly writing up number cards only minutes before races for forgetful team members.

Final Record: 9-1

Head coach Benn Merritt and assistant coach Chris Jones directed the boys' swim team to a 9-1 season this year. The team won its first 8 meets of the season handily and had hopes of a victory over Brockton. At the end of the Brockton meet the Tigers were 2 points shy of a victory but swore they would avenge the Bulldogs at the Suburban League Individual meet later that week. The meet began with the medley relay team taking first place and setting the pace for the rest of the day. The final 400 free-style relay team of junior Alex Busansky, senior Dave Roberts, and juniors Guy Bradley and Jeff Kennedy set a Newton record of 3:43.1 seconds.

Mr. Merritt felt that the team worked extremely well together. Intensive practices were held every afternoon beginning in November with each swimmer doing 6000 yards per day. Throughout the season the morale and camaraderie of the team members were kept at peak levels through the efforts of senior co-captains Peter Hawkins and Andy MacDonald.

The seniors who will be leaving the squad this year started training 3 years ago at the Waltham Boys' Club with practices at 6:00 a.m. daily. Co-captain Peter Hawkins set school records in both the individual medley with a time of 1:03.5 and the breast stroke at 1:43.5. Seniors Dave Roberts and Joe Carleo had strong seasons, swimming the free-style in a number of events. Co-captain MacDonald swam the individual medley along with Howie Abramson. Abramson was also a key man in the breast stroke. Lee Rubin, Jon Curhan, Tom Mannix and David Kaufman were among other contributing seniors on the squad. Next year looks very hopeful with many talented juniors and sophomores returning.

The wrestling team had an outstanding year, finishing the season with a record of 14-5-1. Led by senior tri-captains Dave Costanzo, Jeff Parker, and Eddie Kim, the Tigers roared through the year with few problems and no serious injuries. They established themselves as definite contenders for the Division One Championship.

Head Coach Pat Coleman and assistant coaches Tom DePeter and Mark Thompson provided the team with inspiration and hard work. Their team goals were to win the Suburban League Title and to be the sectional champs.

All three captains, Dave Costanzo (107), Eddie Kim (140), and Jeff Parker (heavyweight) were outstanding wrestlers. Costanzo amassed an amazing 19-0 record with eleven pins. Eddie Kim ended with a record of 11-7. Parker provided the team with some of its most thrilling matches while achieving an 18-1 record, one of the best won-lost records on the team.

Other standouts were senior Ricky Sewall (114) who had a tremendous year and is a definite hopeful for post-season honors. Sophomore Tom Wasson (121), a first-year Varsity wrestler, came through when needed. Junior Mike Gardner had an exceptional year as a member of a tough weight class, ending with a 4-8 record. Senior John Larkin was one of the team's most exciting wrestlers compiling a 13-4 record, and achieving most of his wins by pin. Senior Roger Carmel (157) provided many victories for the team. Senior Steve Wasson (169) was another strong and experienced wrestler who came through in many clutch matches, ending the season with an 11-5 record while also providing team leadership. Tony Rossetti was also a dynamite wrestler who had many thrilling victories on his way to a 10-7 record. Senior Joe Mulvey (187) had a fine season despite an injury that caused him to miss the middle of the season.

Leg warmers, leotards and tights; music, mirrors and a parquet floor. The thirty girls on the team come together each day at 2:30 to stretch and strengthen muscles, to practice and perfect moves. They all joined Orchesis to achieve proficiency in and expression of modern dance.

They develop a vocabulary of moves and great control with which to carry them out. A tremendous amount of time and diligence goes into it.

Each girl puts her own movement combinations to a piece of music of her own choice. Then, everyone teaches her own dances to one another.

Dance instructor Jay Cradle has expectations of excellence for her girls. Her persistence is contagious — eventually they are all influenced by it.

Orchesis gives a few performances in the spring for the community. All who participate in Orchesis carry its rewards into other areas of life. After one has achieved the heights of discipline and the ability to deliver to an audience, one comes away with a permanent gift of confidence.

Senior Troubles

To paraphrase Dickens — Seniors, they are a bad lot. Seniors, with their multitude of problems, whether imagined or real. Seniors, filled with anticipation and dread. One could go on endlessly with terms to describe their mental condition, yet a more expedient method of penetrating their psyche would be to give examples of "abnormal" Senior behavior.

Example One — In early September students send for college applications. Two weeks later these pristine passports to future glory arrive, and in most cases they remain pristine until ten days before they are due. Excuses for not completing the applications run the gamut from general illiteracy to fear of not expressing oneself in the most complementary light. The period of procrastination eventually comes to an end, and the applications become smudged testimony to creative incompetence (or perhaps genius). If one has successfully completed the application ordeal there is still the fear and trembling syndrome, which comes with the wait for the colleges to reply, to live through. After one has wasted the better part of Senior year waiting for the replies there is only one consolation — in four years one will be better equipped to handle the job or graduate school application.

Example Two — It is a well known fact that grades and standardized tests (i.e. S.A.T. and achievements) are a major source of emotional trauma during the Senior year. In relation to grades, one finds all night study sessions and severe cases of paperitus. In the quest for good grades, students have been known to revert to (or should I say resort to?) grade-grubbing. This ignominious condition has on many occasions caused anger in both peers and teachers. Yet when all is said and done, the most reliable cure for grade worries is the second semester Senior Slump. Unfortunately, the behavioral abnormalities which result from the standardized tests are not so easily cured. I knew a student who took these tests innumerable times and each time he received scores which were well over 700. Yet he was unable to reach the illusive score of 800 and from then on went through life with a much deflated ego. As the situation now stands, the only way to cure S.A.T. fever is to destroy the test administrators.

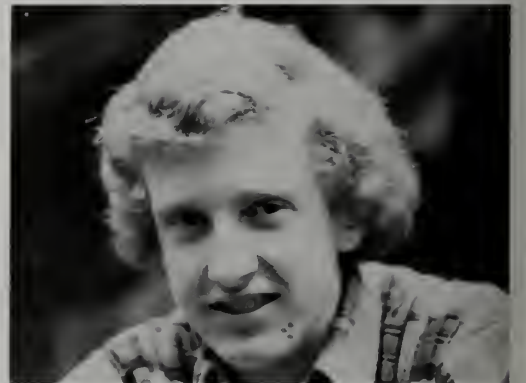

Example Three — The final and most poignant cause of emotional difficulties during Senior year is dating. Distress stems from lack of something to wear, lack of someone to date and lack of money. The therapist suggests borrowing clothing, placing an ad in the personals of the Phoenix and floating a loan. One final suggestion — if all else fails get together a group of friends and go to see Rocky Horror Picture Show.

In conclusion, if you think you have troubles now, realize that your troubles are nothing compared to what they will be next September. Good luck and remember, you can always find solace in Dear Abby.

Senior is when . . .

You think of Billy Joel as a poet, not a song writer.

The end signifies the beginning.

Animal House is only a year away.

You visit your old junior high school and make the teachers feel old.

You visit your old elementary school and the furniture only comes up to your knees.

Watching The Paper Chase makes you nervous.

Your bedroom needs to be painted but why bother? You'll only be home for a little while longer.

You buy a book at a Harvard Square book store and the cashier says, "Which professor is teaching the course?"

You walk into the living room and on top of the piano is your Senior picture.

You feel obligated to start watching the news and to start forming opinions on issues which will come up in the next election.

Sophomores call you "Sir" or "Ma'am".

Juniors call you lucky.

People stop asking, "What do you want to be when you grow up?" and start asking, "So, what are your plans for next year?"

The famous Senior Slump becomes a reality.

Reprimands include phrases like, "You are a Senior, you should know better," and "Is that any kind of example to set for the younger students?"

Your little brother's friends look proud when you say "hi" to them in the halls.

You are convinced that no one in the entire history of the world has ever suffered quite as much as you have.

You are anxious to leave and sorry to go.

Graduation means no more . . .

Slips — cut slips, tardy slips, dismissal slips . . .

Sitting outside of a class when the teacher is late and arguing whether students are free to leave or obligated to stay.

"Is anyone using this chair?"

Overdue library books.

"Will you sponsor me for a bowl-a-thon?"

Getting a ride in the elevator with a wounded friend.

Senior Information Sheets.

"I'm sorry to interrupt class, but there is a blue station wagon which is . . ."

Air conditioned winters.

"Please let it snow tomorrow."

Parking space fights.

Language Lab.

"Of course that's my mother's signature on the warning card, if you call to ask her, she will take it as an insult to her handwriting."

"Don't forget to buy your copy of this year's Newtonian and remember, for only fifty cents extra you can get a plastic cover which will preserve your purchase for years to come."

Clocks which are fast when you're late to class and become slow once the class begins.

"Submit to Thoughtprints."

". . . with this week's Newtonite News . . ."

Having to dial nine before making an outside call.

"What is our high school code?"

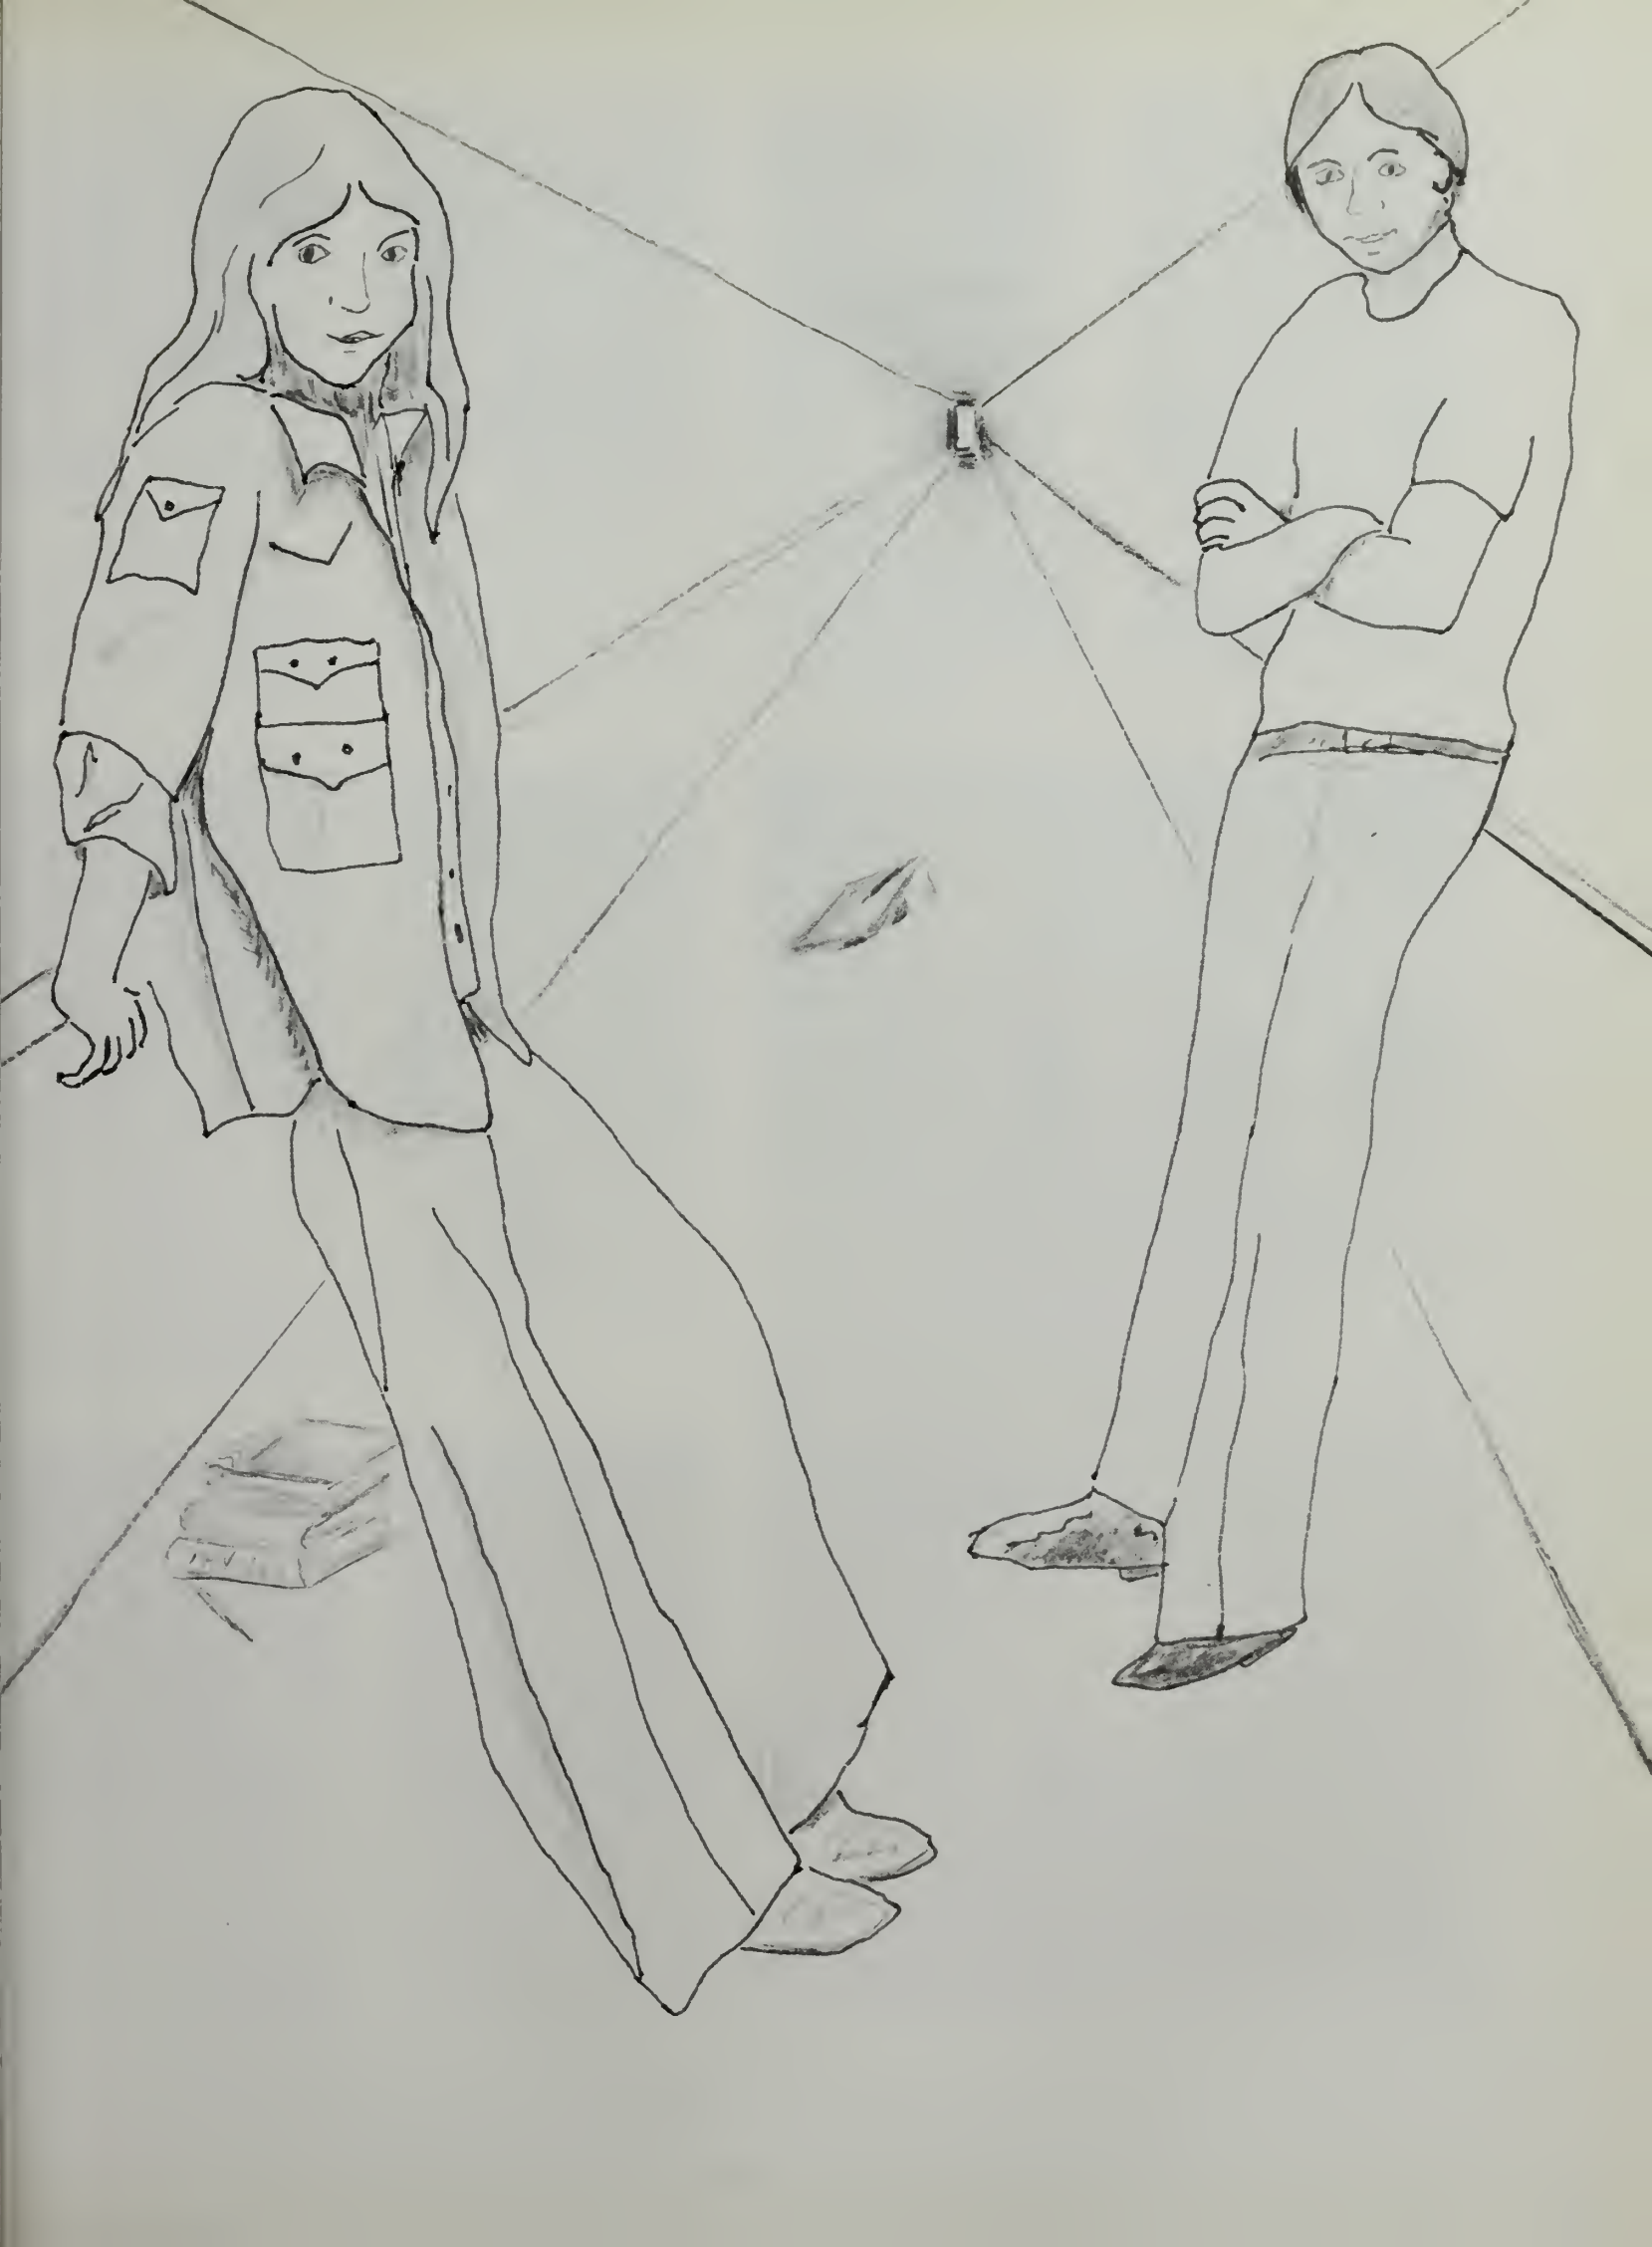

221555.

Being trampled by the marching band on Friday afternoons.

Viewing the world from the library steps.

1979

Senior (sēn'yər) adj., 1. A student in his/her final year of school, college or university. 2. One who distinguishes himself by an air of superiority over sophmores and juniors. 3. One who, leaving a school, takes with him fond memories of happy times, good friends and the important years.

Rental and Sales on Crutches, Canes, Wheel Chairs, Walkers and Hospital Equipment

Sometimes a little flag waving is understandable.

Especially when you're celebrating a birthday of a state and your achievements.
It's 30 years since the State of Israel was established.

And almost twice as long since we opened our doors at home.

(57 years, to be exact).

We are not just another bank.

We are a leading bank in Israel both in volume and profits and we are eager to extend our services.

Try us.
